

2015 Green Film Series presents:

Film Title: The Human Scale

Date & Time: Thursday, Jan. 15, 7:00-8:30 pm

Location: G002 Hesterberg Hall, Forestry Building, Michigan Tech

Cost: FREE Enjoy coffee, tea & refreshments

Description: How we can make our cities and towns more attractive and healthy? Based on the work of famed architect and urban planner Jan Gehl, the film brings real solutions that promise a more humanistic dimension to cities where people are not displaced by congested streets, skyscrapers, and the car-centric urbanism of the 1960s and '70s. (83 min)

Discussion Facilitator:

Nathan Miller, Keweenaw Land Trust, M.S. Regional Planning, University at Albany SUNY

Cosponsored by:

Lake Superior Stewardship Initiative, Michigan Tech Center for Water & Society,
Keweenaw Unitarian Universalist Fellowship, and Keweenaw Land Trust